"When my house was hit by hail, the storm chasers were at my door like a herd of locusts. Hail Hero helped me get $1,000 more on my insurance claim. This let me upgrade my roof with no out of pocket cost. They also helped me find a roofer who got the job done. Really impressed by Hail Hero's attention to detail."

But...

Won't a contractor do all this for me?

Some will. Most won't. Contractors are in business to make money. Hail Hero is here to protect you. Motives matter.

Your price seems high.

There are lots of financial risks to going it alone: unrealized insurance money due to an incomplete estimate, surprise contractor costs, shoddy workmanship, roof leaks, a worthless warranty, and unscrupulous contractors. Any one of these risks can spell thousands of dollars lost.

I want to be involved.

You can be as involved as you want to be. Either way, you'll have Hail Hero's expert guidance and tenacious advocacy along the way.

The average homeowner goes through the hail claims process once in their life. The average claim is $15,000.

Hail Stories

St. Louis, MO - May 2, 2016

2" hail hit homes and businesses in Brentwood, Clayton, NW St. Louis City, and University City. Hail of this size damages not only roofs, but gutters and siding as well. The hail was blowing from the SW, so check the southern and western sides of your home for signs of damage, including: dents in A/C units, bumps in the NE side of gutters, holes in vinyl siding, paint chipped off brick and wood siding.

Houston, TX - April 28, 2016

1.5" hail pummeled homes in West Houston. It was blown in from the East, so check the eastern-facing side(s) of your home for dents in window trim, A/C units, gutters, and downspouts. Texas Windstorm insurance is covering claims up to $3,000.
